Who is AWSA?

The Aramark Worker-Student Alliance is a coalition of Aramark workers, student groups and individuals who are working together to demand fair working conditions for all dining hall employees on campus.

What do we want?

AWSA was formed this spring quarter in response to growing discontent among the dining hall workers regarding their treatment by Aramark. Workers are demanding fair hours and wages, respect from management in the workplace, and improved working conditions to ensure worker safety.

What can we do?

As the primary consumers of Aramark's product, students at this university have a unique position to effect change on campus. We need to send both the university and Aramark a clear message that every person contributing to campus life deserves equitable treatment and respect.

Participating RSOs include: Yalla, Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), Organization of Black Students (OBS), Students Organizing United with Labor (SOUL), Southside Solidarity Network, Graduate Students United (GSU), Movimiento Estudiantil Chicano de Aztlan (MEChA), Organization of Latin American Students (OLAS), Jewish Action, Amnesty, STAND, and more!
